

The Civil and Environmental Engineering Department at The Citadel invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant/Associate Professor level. Minimum qualifications for the position include a B.S. in Civil Engineering and a Ph.D. in Civil Engineering or Engineering Education. A preference will be given to candidates with a geotechnical background and an undergraduate degree from an ABET accredited program. The successful candidate will have demonstrated a potential and interest in undergraduate instruction, a strong potential for and commitment to student advising, and commitment to continuous professional development in both civil engineering and engineering education. Professional registration, or potential and strong commitment towards obtaining registration, should be demonstrated. Prior teaching and industrial experience are desirable. The applicant must be an effective communicator and be able to serve as a role model for students in the Corps of Cadets and in The Citadel Graduate College (CGC). Candidates must be either a U.S. citizen or have permanent residency status.

The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina, is a unique public institution with the mission of educating principled leaders through its Corps of Cadets and CGC programs. Located in historic Charleston, S.C., The Citadel offers degrees in the humanities, business, math, science, engineering and education. With an enrollment of more than 2,000, the Corps of Cadets is the nation's largest military college program outside the service academies. All cadets are educated within a classic military system and about 40 percent of the graduating seniors earn military commissions. The remaining graduates attend graduate school or enter the job market. The Citadel Graduate College, which is noted for Citadel excellence in a civilian environment, serves about 1,000 residents of South Carolina's beautiful Lowcountry. Academic programs at the college are complemented by a strong commitment to service and emphatic support of an honor code that calls upon a cadet not to lie, cheat or steal or tolerate those who do. Since its founding in 1842, The Citadel's emphasis on character as well as intellect has produced generations of graduates who have served their nation, their professions and their communities with distinction.

Anticipated hiring date is August 2010. Applications received by March 15, 2010 (tentative closing date) will be assured of consideration; however, applications will be considered until the position is filled. Application and materials must be submitted online at www.jobs.sc.gov. Applicants also should either attach a complete resume including names, address and telephone number of three references or send material to the Department of Human Resources, The Citadel, 171 Moultrie Street, Charleston, SC 29409. FAX: 843-953-5228. The Citadel is an equal opportunity, affirmative action employer and encourages applications from qualified women and minorities.
